

Software Documentation

---

Documentation helps other people (including your future self) understand how to use your software.

Benefits of documentation include higher likelihood of the software being adopted and supported by others.

See also: Python Docstrings